

Snowshoe Institute Award of Excellence for Scholarship in the Arts

Eligibility

All College of Creative Arts' faculty including full-time, part-time, FEAP, and emeritus are eligible to apply for the Snowshoe Institute Award of Excellence for Scholarship in the Arts.

Goal of the Award

The award celebrates current scholarship activity from the most recent two (2) academic years ending in August. The purpose of the award is to provide greater visibility for the community of faculty scholars in the College of Creative Arts. To meet that goal, the award winner will deliver a public presentation/lecture to be given in the fall semester and scheduled in conjunction with the Dean's Office.

Nature of Scholarship

Snowshoe Institute Lectures may arise from recent examples of scholarship such as:

- Publication of original scholarly research in journals, books, book chapters, web formats, etc.
- Recent grant-funded research activity.
- Creative activity (performances, exhibition or design production, recordings, etc.)
- Scholarly activities recently presented, scheduled to be presented, at a conference, professional meeting, or invited lecture.

Faculty are encouraged to submit other scholarly activities that may not have been addressed by the examples stated above.

Nomination and Selection Process

1. Nominations are accepted from a faculty member from within or outside the college, from a student, or a faculty member may self-nominate.
2. The recipient of the current CCA Research and Creative Activity Award will automatically be nominated and will be asked to submit a lecture proposal to add to their research award application.
